president's message

The Ribbons are Nice...

Hello to everyone. Sorry to be absent for the always spectacular September meeting. It was extremely disappointing to not be able to be there.

As I began to realize, again with much disappointment, that I would not be able to help set up the MOS exhibit for the NCOS Show, in fact would not be able to attend the show at all, I began to think about the commitment that Valerie and her team have made. We have a nice view of the finished product, which is always a beautifully designed and built exhibit, that has the appearance of being so easy. Take into consideration that Valerie Important Notice!

MOS' October monthly meeting will be held Wednesday, October 19.

John Salventi of Parkside Orchids to Speak at Next Meeting

After a decade hiatus, we're pleased to once again host John Salventi of Parkside Orchid Nursery as our program speaker. John's presentation is titled The Orchids of Wayqecha: The Manu Cloud Forest. Prior to involvement in the orchid industry John Salventi was a health-care professional with more than 20 years of hospital management experience at the Lehigh Valley Hospital. Orchid growing began as "hobby" with two hundred orchids in a bow-window. The passion (addiction) continued and resulted in the creation of Parkside Orchid Nursery.

Parkside has grown to be one of the largest multi-genera orchid nurseries in the northeastern United States with five greenhouses, spanning over 14,000 square feet of growing space.

John Salventi and Tom Purviance, owners of Parkside Orchids, and their awarded Cattleya maxima.

Maintaining an interesting and varied inventory for the serious grower requires both John and Tom to travel extensively to secure plants directly from the growers. These include frequent trips to South America, Central America, Hawaii and Asia.

He has spoken both nationally and internationally at Orchid Societies and Symposiums on orchid and conservation topics. He was recently appointed as a presidential advisor for the Amazon Center for Environmental Education and Research. He also serves on the Conservation Committee for the American Orchid Society.

John is bringing plants for sale and is accepting orders for delivery at the meeting until the morning of 19 October. Please visit <http://www.parksideorchids.com> for details on ordering.

september judges' choice Angraecum distichum By David Smith

The plant, Angraecum distichum, that was selected as the "Judges' Choice" by the judges at the September meeting is at least 14 years old and was purchased from Kensington Orchids in December, 1997. I have no idea how old it was at that time.

Under my care, it has always received bright light with some direct sun during the winter. I do not allow it to dry out because it is growing in a slat basket which allows perfect drainage. During the winter months, November through February, it is grown at intermediate temperatures, with a minimum nighttime temperature of about 54°F. It hangs about 6 feet above the floor of my greenhouse where it receives good air movement. The plant receives a dilute fertilizer solution about once a month which is about every third or fourth watering. Also, for winter waterings I use slightly warm water because the water coming out of my well then is quite cold. I try to maintain a relative humidity of over 60% which can and does fluctuate. During the summer I try to maintain a maximum daytime temperature of about 84°F – 86°F through the use of an evaporative cooler, misting, periodic spraying to simulate rainfall, and shading on the glass.

The conditions described here apply to my entire collection. A. distichum has not been given any special care above and beyond those general greenhouse conditions. However, it does seem to respond well to the increased water and humidity during the summer.

This plant might prove to be a challenge for growing on a windowsill, but would possibly be worth trying in a more closed-in space where watering and humidity could be more easily controlled.

The genus name, Angraecum, is derived from the Malayan word, angurek, which refers to epiphytic plants. The second part of the name, distichum, comes from the word distichus meaning 2-ranked which describes the arrangement of the leaves on the stem.

If any of you have an interest in growing a variety of orchids, by all means give this plant a try. With even some success, it is a rewarding plant.

Now that Summer is behind us, let's hope the weather calms down so we can all enjoy the upcoming orchid show season. Some of you are starting to hold their meetings again after a summer hiatus. The AOS has had a busy summer as well. There are new novice culture sheets for most of the more popular orchids. If you are a member of AOS and have not already registered for access to the new website Members' Only, I hope you do it soon.

One major difference in the new website is that it may be translated into a multitude of foreign languages. The translation is done with a drop down menu on the left hand top portion of the site. Also, the site is continually being populated with up-to-date orchid information. In addition, there is a new member's profile where you can renew your membership, change your mailing address or email information and manage your AQ+ subscription. Plus, each month, Ron McHatton produces a fabulous electronic newsletter filled with all kinds of orchid culture information. If you are already an AOS member and not receiving notifications of these monthly newsletters, AOS does not have your email address. To be added to the distribution list, send your email address along with your full name to Terri Rivera at trivera@aos.org. Please note: if you are having difficulties signing into the 'Members Only' section, it may be that your prior registration is no longer valid. With the new website, each member must renew their registration. Instructions for doing so are on the home page of AOS.

You will also find a tab on the home page about the Myrtle Head Savanna Conservation Committee project. It is up and running and donations are being made. You can read more about this joint project with Nature Conservancy in the August Orchids as well as the website. If you or your society has funds for conservation, please consider this worthwhile project. It certainly deserves all our support and it would be great if AOS could reach its monetary goal soon. If you are unable to make an online donation on the AOS webpage, you may send a contribution by check to AOS. Just make sure to note on the check that it is for the Myrtle Head Savanna Project so you receive proper recognition.

All my arrangements for attending the AOS Fall Members' meeting in San Antonio are made. The Alamo Orchid Society has put together a wonderful meeting and I look forward to being there. It runs from October 25 – 30 and has a great line up of speakers and vendors. In addition to Trustee and Committee meetings, the traditional Affiliated Societies breakfast will be held and I hope to see some of you there. Check out the Alamo Orchid Society website at www.alamoorchidsociety.com for registration or more information.

MOS Annual Orchid Auction Same Venue as Last Year

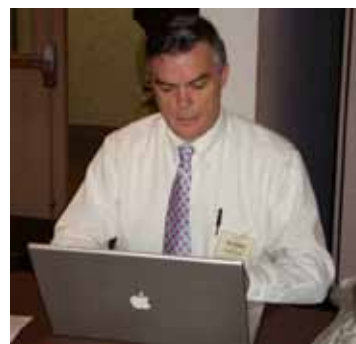

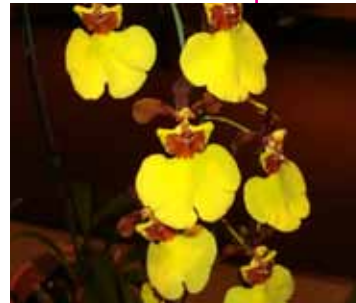

Saturday, November 12, 2011
American Legion Dewey Lowman
Post 109
610 Old Sulphur Spring Road
Halethorpe, MD

Due the huge success of last year's auction, we've reserved the same location for this year. Post 109 is near the intersection of Interstate #95 and the Baltimore Beltway (Interstate #695), providing ready access for our Baltimore area members and our Washington, D.C. area orchid customers.

The Dewey Lowman Post's Web site is:
<http://www.americanlegionpost109.org/>

For directions go to:
<http://www.americanlegionpost109.org/directions.htm>

We are hoping that everyone will support this year's Auction as volunteers and bidders and with donations. For more information or to help with the auction, e-mail Bill Ellis at billellis@ellislist.com and her team essentially have little or no idea of what types of orchids they're getting, how many plants they'll be working with, or the sizes and the colors of the orchids with which they'll be building the exhibit. Yet out of this chaos and unknown develops this beautiful, well designed and executed exhibit. No doubt the exhibit will be again filled with ribbons and glass awards. But what I'd like you to consider, is look past the ribbons and see the commitment, dedication and hard work that has gone into building this exhibit. Many thanks to all the members that contributed their beautiful plants to exhibit. We couldn't do it without you.

These exhibits represent all of us as a Society. Valerie and her team continue to make us very proud to be part of the Maryland Orchid Society.

Happy Growing,

Bill
